House Passes Measure To Investigate The Charges Made By Roosevelt In His Message.

DO NOT LIKE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS

First Signs Of Revolt By The House This Morning By Passage Of Measure By Perkins Of New York For Appointment Of Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 11.—Immediately after convening today the House adopted a resolution introduced by Perkins of New York, providing for the appointment of a special committee of five members to consider the proper means in dealing with that portion of the president's message which criticized the course of congress in prohibiting the detail of secret service men to duty outside of their own bureau. Perkins was named as chairman of the committee and as associate Donby of Michigan, Weeks of Massachusetts, Williams of Mississippi and Lloyd of Missouri. The committee, it is understood, will make its report within a few days when some definite action will be taken.

HEART DISEASE AND A BOLD PICKPOCKET

Made Things Interesting For M. L.
Hubbs In A North River Street Bar-Room Last Evening—
$50 Taken.

M. L. Hubbs, a prosperous looking agent for a line of oil company, with headquarters in Chicago, was overtaken by a severe attack of heart disease in the Hubb street on North Main street, last evening and Dr. F. H. Farnsworth worked over him an hour before definite assurances that he would recover could be given out. This morning the bartender informed the police of a little incident that had transpired within his observation which caused a prompt investigation. A slim individual with a peaked and pimpled face and clad in a brown suit edged up to Mr. Hubbs as he was standing in the bar, in a moment the latter complained that he had experienced the sensation of a hand trying with its vegetation and that his wild watch was gone. The bartender immediately accused the gentleman in the brown suit who promptly bade all suspicious individuals to get out of the bar and in a moment pointed to the interior of a neighboring saloon where the missing timepiece was quickly located. The bartender then told the peaked-faced customer to get out of the place and stay out. It would have been better had he called the police, for Mr. Hubbs this morning found that a pocket-book containing about $50 in bills was also missing. A man answering to the description of the pickpocket was traced to the American House where he is supposed to have purchased a bed for 25 cents and a glass of beer. Before retiring, he asked Carl Hermann, the proprietor, how late he could sleep. The latter said there was no particular time set for calling guests, and that he could remain all the forenoon, if he wanted to. When an effort was made to find the man at nine o'clock this morning, however, he had departed for parts unknown. Mr. Hubbs wears a valuable diamond ring and shirt-stud and is therefore a shining mark for gentry of this character.

CHRISTMAS TREES COMING TO GOTHAM

Big Markets Are Already Receiving Train Loads of Trees For Holidays.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Dec. 11.—Expecting to reap a better harvest this season than last, the Christmas tree vendors have begun to ship their stock to this city. The first consignment arrived this week and was displayed today in Washington Market.

The Christmas tree trade in New York has grown to mammoth proportions and it requires many carloads and even shiploads of trees to supply the metropolitan and its suburbs. More trees of large size are used than ever before. This is due to the growing custom of churches, societies, lodges and other bodies of having a mammoth tree in common, which has largely done away with the old-time practice of individual family Christmas trees.

The trees in Maine and Canada are becoming scarcer each year and it requires more labor to market the trees than in former years. All the available trees along the railroad have been cut and now the dealers are compelled to haul the trees many miles before they can ship them out.

Still the supply seems equal to demand and the indications are that the trees will cost no more this season than heretofore. There appears to be a scarcity, however, of holly and mistletoe, especially of the better grades, and it is probable some fancy prices will be realized on these popular articles of decoration.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 11.—The Reverend Henry Moeller, archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Cincinnati, entered upon his sixtieth year today and was the recipient of numerous congratulations from the prelates and priests of his province and from many members of the laity.

Archbishop Moeller, is a native of Cincinnati and received his early education in the parish schools of this city. Following his vocation to the priesthood, he made arrangements to pursue divinity studies. According to his own statement, he became one of the first students to enter the famous American college. In 1876 he was ordained to the priesthood by Mer, Lent, in the church of St. John Lateran, the cathedral church of Rome. When the young priest returned to Cincinnati, he was assigned to the parish of St. Patrick's church, Bellefontaine, but a few months later, recognizing his scholarly attainments, made him a member of the faculty of St. Mary's seminary in this city.

In 1879 Father Moeller accepted the position of secretary to Bishop Charles of Indianapolis, but was retained in July of the following year by Archbishop Elder, who wanted him for similar service. Later he was made chancellor of the diocese, and in 1890 he was appointed bishop of Columbus. Three years later he became coadjutor to Archbishop Elder and upon the latter's death in 1897 Dr. Moeller succeeded him as archbishop of Cincinnati.

FOOTPADS TOOK $700 FROM ROCKFORD MAN

Local Police Office Was Informed At Late Hour Last Evening and Close Watch Was Kept on Trains.

At a late hour last evening Chief of Police Hargan of Rockford communicated with Officer John Brown of the local police station, giving a description of two holdup men who knocked down a watchman at six o'clock and got away with $700 in gold and silver coin which he had on his person. One of the assailants was 5 ft. 11 inches tall, 23 years of age, and wore dark clothes. The other was 5 ft. 6 inches, and light complexioned. It was supposed that the pair had struck out for Minneapolis. Local officers were at the depot when the 11:05 and 12:20 passenger trains came in but found no one about answering to the description. A lieutenant on the midnight train informed Officer Morrissey that a man answering to the description of one of the robbers got on the train at Harvard and disembarked at Clinton where he was met by a party, evidently in waiting for him.

CHRISTMAS SHIPTO MEET BIG SQUADRON

Presents For Sailors to Meet Fleet in Mediterranean.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—In compliance with orders issued by the Navy Department the big supply ship Celtic will sail from New York tomorrow laden to her full capacity with Christmas goodies for the thousands of sailors aboard the Atlantic battleship fleet now homeward bound on the cruise around the world. It is planned to have the Celtic meet the fleet somewhere in the Mediterranean. It is highly probable that the Santa Claus ship will not fall in with Admiral Sperry's fleet until some days after Christmas, but it is safe to say that the good things aboard will be none the less welcome to the jockies. Included in the cargo is a plentiful supply of American turkeys, barrels of New England apples, boxes of chocolate, raisins, nuts, celery, plum puddings and all the ingredients necessary in the making of hot mince and pumpkin pies.

ASKS COLLEGE MEN TO SAVE COUNTRY

Leslie M. Shaw Makes Address Before Alumni of Dickinson College.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 11.—In speaking before a gathering of alumni of Dickinson college last night, Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, appealed to the college men to save the country from socialism. He said: "I am alarmed at the trend toward socialism in this country today. If there is any power in this country to stem it, it ought to be trained minds of college men." He said socialism is being taught from many pulpits and many Chautauqua speakers are teaching socialism. Libraries are full of it and the trend of the newspapers is toward socialistic ideas.

TRAIN-WRECKER GOES TO PRISON

WILLIAM A. FIEDLER WILL SERVE FOUR YEARS.

COMES FROM MILTON TOWN

And Tried to Wreck Passenger No. 143 Near the Junction on the Night of December 3.

That you, William A. Fidler, be punished by confinement in the state prison at Waupun for the period of four years, the first day to be solitary. This was the sentence meted out by Judge Fildes this morning to a tall, rather dull looking individual with high, tan-colored shoes, who had entered a plea of guilty to the charge of piling a quantity of sawed railroad ties on the C. & M. & St. P. tracks in a short distance south of the Milton Junction station, on the night of December 3. It will be remembered that the Chicago passenger train No. 143, loaded with people bound for Madison, ran into this obstruction shortly after nine o'clock that evening and that only a miracle prevented locomotive and cars from being derailed. The engine-pilot plowed through the loose debris but was badly wrecked.

Fidler told Judge Fildes that he was intoxicated at the time; that he had no reason for wishing to wreck himself on the railroad company; that he was glad that the train was not wrecked; that he was twenty-two years of age and had a wife and baby at the home near the main line of the St. Paul, about three quarters of a mile west of the Milton Junction station; and that he hoped the court would be merciful in dealing with his crime. The maximum sentence for this brand of attempted wholesale murder is ten years.

An Utter Motive?

Just what strange wheels were spinning in this man's mental machinery on the night in question will probably never be known. He was certainly intoxicated but his actions were not those of an ordinary drunken man bent on making trouble. The passenger train from North McGregor was standing at the station waiting for the freight to "kick out" of the block at Milton when Fidler was espied under the train, on his hands and knees, trying to cut off the air. The incident was immediately reported to the brakeman who jerked the man out without any undue gentleness. Finding Fidler was intoxicated it seemed useless to demand an explanation. When the train pulled out the amateur cardholder was aboard. In attempting to pull the wheel-skin, in which he carried his money for his pockets in order to pay his fare, he also brought to light a number of good-sized rocks. He jumped off the train before he had stopped, at the Junction and narrowly escaped being ground under the wheels. When he tried to get aboard again the conductor wrestled his hand loose from his hold. He then tried to climb onto No. 137, bound for Madison, and was prevented from doing so by the brakeman. "I'll get even with you, you son of a—!" he shouted as the cars pulled away from him.

Coup for Detective Casey.

All these facts and more were gleaned by Patrick Henry Casey of the C. & M. & St. P. detective bureau in the course of a house-to-house canvass of the district extending over a period of nearly a week. He listened to the gossip at the taverns and in the railroad headquarters; drove to this farmhouse and that one, following up each slender clue; and finally was able to hear something about a man who had been prevented from riding on a train that night. This man immediately became the object of his search. He learned his name and the whereabouts of his home and one night he drove by the place and then, carefully retracing his course, found Fidler at home and engaged in a casual conversation with him. A few days later his network of evidence was complete. Fidler's aged father who owns eighty acres of land was at first disposed to sell his property and use every cent to defend his son but when the detective convinced him beyond all possibility of doubt that his son was guilty, he refused to have anything more to do with the matter. Deputy Sheriff Fred Gillman, who was here today from Evansville, expected to take Fidler to Waupun this noon. Detective Casey will finish his 23rd year of continuous service with the St. Paul road on Sunday next and says he hopes to serve twenty-eight more of them.

MASON HEARING WAS ENDED LAST NIGHT

Only Four of the Five Members of the Fire and Police Commission Were Present at the Session.

W. S. Jeffers presided at the fire and police commission hearing, yesterday afternoon, of the allegations made against Night Patrolman William Mason by Alderman Richardson and Sheriff of the police commission of the common council, C. C. MacLean, who acted as secretary and Commissioner Geo. D. Simpson and W. H. Judd, City Attorney H. L. Maxfield, a stenographer, Chief of Police Appley, Officers Mason and John Brown and Alderman Watt were the others present.

The first of the four specific allegations was concerned with the fact that Officer Mason left his beat on a certain evening to arrest two girls who were in company with two young men up river. It was shown that the patrolman was getting orders from headquarters at the time. The second complaint was based on the fact that he absented himself from the city on Oct. 21 in order to arrest Andrew Olson for selling liquor at Afton without a license. The patrolman stated that he was acting in his capacity as a deputy sheriff and that when he left the city early in the afternoon he had every reason to believe that he would be back in time to begin his duties at 7 p. m., as usual. He was unavoidably delayed and did not commence work until 8:15, a little over an hour thereafter. With reference to the third allegation to the effect that he left his beat and went with a disorderly house to arrest inmates of a disorderly house two miles north of the city, it was shown that the trip was made at the urgent request of the father of a young girl who had been frequenting the place. It was necessary work and had to be done by someone.

The only complaint which seemed to merit serious consideration was the one based on allegations made by a back-fitter named George Hard to the effect that Officer Mason and a stranger by the name of James drove about the city on the night of October 16, the information conveyed that the patrolman's conduct was unbecomingly an officer. In answer to this charge Officer Mason stated that he was stopped that evening at the corner of Oliver and Milwaukee streets by an individual who he had never seen before who asked him to pilot him to the home of a mutual friend on South Main street who was very ill at the time. He called up headquarters and secured permission to be absent from his beat for an hour. They drove to the Saratoga saloon where the man, James, bought cigars, and some bottles to take to the invalid. Subsequently Mr. James remarked that Officer John Brown was an old friend of his and that he was very anxious to pay him a visit. At the police station Officer Brown gave Officer Mason instructions to humor the man, to drive about town with him and see that he got to his hotel in safety.

They visited several places, Mason demanding James from entering in chief instance, and the visitor was finally gotten to his lodgings at a late hour. Officer John Brown corroborated the statement that he had aided to James: "This officer will go and show you the place." President Jeffers of the commission thereupon remarked that if it was "a policy of the police to act as pilots when a man wanted to see the sights, in the evening, it was a poor one and should be abolished. The individual in question, he maintained, should have been arrested the same as any other disorderly person who refused to go to his hotel. Officer Brown said that he was not aware of the fact that a hack was in waiting outside, that evening, nor did he have any idea where the two men would merely acted on the belief that Officer Mason would soon be able to persuade James to return to his lodgings. The four members of the commission thereupon conferred in private and decided to submit a report at the next meeting of the common council, a week from next Monday evening. While some reprimands may be distributed, more patient action does not seem probable, though "you never can tell."

TRY TO BE EARLY IN SENDING GIFTS

Christmas Rush Much Relieved If This Is Done Throughout

In sending a Christmas gift to a friend out of town start it early. This does not mean two days before Christmas, but perhaps two weeks.

Few people realize how crowded and jammed the mails and express offices are at holiday time. Many persons act as if the one gift they are sending to Aunt Jane at San Jose, Cal., were the only parcel that will be going through the mail that year. They mail it a week, perhaps, before Christmas, and think that they have done well.

Take no such chances with your precious gifts. Send them far enough in advance to insure safe delivery. If necessary, send at the same time a letter asking the recipient not to open the parcel until Christmas day. There is small danger that anyone will disregard this request, for nearly every one likes to have the pleasant surprise of the day.

Also wrap parcels securely. A paper box is not always durable. If the gift is a soft article, that will bear crushing without injury, tough, heavy wrapping paper thoroughly tied with strong twine, is better than a frail box. If the gift is crushable or breakable do not spare the trouble of having it put in a strong wooden box. In that case send it by express.

Those loose, slipshod manner in which women wrap and the parcels for mail or express delivery shows more abiding faith in human nature than it does good judgment. Be sure that all parcels are correctly and plainly addressed. No clerk will waste precious time to decipher illegible writing. Rather, he will show your parcel in any old place, for what care he whether it goes right or not? You are the one who cares, hence it is "up to you" to do your share perfectly. It is a good plan to have someone beside yourself examine parcels and check up the addresses, so there will be no oversight. If you ship by express take a receipt for your parcel. If it is worth more than $50 the receipt should be specific.

If you ship by mail have the parcel registered. This does not make the postoffice liable, nor guarantee delivery, but it makes the tracing easier in case of loss.

WHERE RED CROSS STAMP MONEY GOES

To Make Tuberculosis Exhibition All Over the State An Educational Campaign.

Just where does the money raised by the sale of Red Cross stamps? It is a legitimate question and merits a full and prompt answer.

This money will be used to send tuberculosis exhibits through the state under the charge of trained men. The exhibit, which was shown at the international tuberculosis congress at Washington, received the highest prizes for methods of organization. It also was shown at the state teachers' convention in Milwaukee to 4,000 teachers and lately has been in use in the Milwaukee schools. Now it is being returned to Madison. The university exhibit, which was used to educate the students of the university to better methods of fighting this disease, was a nucleus. It was shown by the university extension in some of the large cities of the state and proved a most effective means of interesting and instructing the people. In the last few years, while tuberculosis has been slightly decreasing in the large cities, it has been increasing in the small places in Wisconsin.

The large exhibit will be divided into two parts. The larger one will go to the cities and the smaller one to villages. With the money raised by the stamp campaign a trained man will be employed to go with each exhibit, put it up in such form that it will tell its story quickly and effectively. He will train physicians, teachers, scholars and people into the best method of preventing and curing consumption. He also will study the community and find the plague spots and help boards of health to clean out sources of infection. In training the people to secure the proper conditions to prevent tuberculosis or to cure it, he must train them to the habits of correct living, to avoid patent medicine, to use fresh air and sunlight freely and to live on a wholesome food.

The stamp campaign will educate the people to welcome the exhibit and the people who offer the stamps for sale and those who buy them will be instructed in the fundamental principles that will drive out tuberculosis. The conditions that make that disease impossible will prevent other similar diseases, so that the campaign is strictly an educational one. The exhibit will be shown in different cities in the state as soon as it has been rearranged and features will be given regarding it. It tells in a striking and graphic way the story of the enormous losses from tuberculosis and shows exactly the means needed to prevent it from attacking the individual and the home. It shows also that it is not enough that well-to-do people should be surrounded by proper conditions, but that a plague spot is a menace to every family in the community. All funds raised will be put in the treasury of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association and expended in printing literature and maintaining the exhibit.

A MYSTERIOUS FIRE IN TOWN OF TURTLE

Incendiarism Is Only Theory That Can Be Advanced for Last Night's Blaze.

Between twelve and one o'clock last night the barn on the Philo Hotstick farm in the town of Turtle was totally destroyed by fire and the contents including three horses, hay, grain, harnesses and farming implements were burned. The origin of the fire is a mystery and the family know nothing of it until a week ago by Charles Shuman and Mr. Grossman, who saw the flames and hastened to the scene. At that time the flames were at their height and it was a question for some time whether the house would not be burned as well as it caught several times. How the fire could have originated is a mystery as no lantern was used at the time of doing the evening work and the only solution appears to be incendiarism. One horse was saved due to the fact it was at a neighbor's at the time of the fire. The barn and contents were insured in the La Prairie Fire Insurance Company.

LITTLE BUYING OF ANY CONSEQUENCE

Up to this date no buying of the '08 crop of any consequence has been reported since the late crushing season, though some riding is being done in various sections and a few sales made, says the Edgerton Reporter. The business of the local market is largely confined to the sale of old goods from first hands at figures that will permit of an export outlet for which there seems to be an improved demand. The following transactions have come to notice:

Holmerson & Bitters, 5448 '06 and '07 at 84c.
N. G. Nelson, 2148 '07 at 84c.
John Quinn, 2148 '07 at 8c.
Ed. Christenbury, 1848 '07 at 10c.
Mrs. Olson, 2148 '07 at 8c.

Among packers, however, business seems to be picking up. C. L. Cullen reports the purchase of 110 cwt of O. H. Holton of Stoughton and 101 cwt of Henry Scott of Madison, and 7148 '07 of Edw. Simpson, McIntosh Bros., bought a 3148 lot of '06 of J. D. McCarthy and have sold about 100 cwt of '06 and '07 the past week.

A few packets are preparing to start westward bound. The United States Office, St. Louis, is preparing their purchase of the new crop this week and will open their warehouses at Edgerton, Orlanville and Westby on Monday and others soon after. Enough tobacco is reported ready for delivery to keep the foreign busy.

Stripping is proceeding in the country where growers have taken down their crops, but winter has apparently set in and those growers who did not take advantage of the late cutting must now wait until the next spring weather.

The Reporter also has an item of interest to many tobacco growers relative to the Society of Equity.

Our readers will remember when the Society of Equity was being organized in this state Col. Joel T. Fort, "a silver-tongued orator from the Black Patch," was imported to tell the farmers what wonderful things the Society had accomplished in this country and how bitterly it denounced everybody that did not admit his pancreas was the only salvation of the tobacco grower. Hence we are surprised to read in a dispatch from Paducah, Ky., that the climax to the general dissatisfaction among the members of the Planters' Protective association, of which Col. Fort was a prime mover and officer, was the filing of suit in the circuit court for a receiver and an accounting of the association. The plaintiffs in the petition represent 5,000 members of the association whose chief purpose is to prevent the enforcement of the pay pledges on the ground that the association has failed in its purpose. It is claimed in the petition that "the defendants are guilty of gross negligence and fraud in the management of the business affairs of the defendant association, first in taking and converting to the use and benefit of the defendant association large quantities of tobacco, which was the individual property of these plaintiffs, to the amount of at least fifty pounds per member, delivered to said association during the years 1906-1907, or 4,500,000 pounds worth ten cents a pound, or $450,000, which have been sold and the proceeds wrongfully held out by the defendant association. That the defendants charged plaintiffs 8 per cent. on money advanced, while they secured the loans from banks at 6 per cent." The petition recites in detail numerous other grievances, all asserting negligence and carelessness on the part of officials of the association. It is claimed that with proper management all of the 1906 and 1907 crops could have been sold at a satisfactory price. It is claimed that the officers are holding more than $50,000 derived from the sale of tobacco belonging to the plaintiffs and that they refuse to distribute, with the intention of converting it to their own use upon the dissolution of the association, and that the officers have and are diverting large sums of money under the guise of paying salaries and expenses to themselves. It is claimed that large quantities of tobacco and fully $100,000 in money are in danger of being lost to the plaintiffs. Upon the charges so herein specified a receiver is asked for by the plaintiffs to take charge of the business of the association and collect it according to the best interests of the members in suit. We shall not undertake to say how much of these allegations is true and can be established in court, but when five thousand members unite in asking an investigation it is enough to put people on their guard against those agitators who are "fanning the farmers." It is always well to look into what personal interest they may have in the movement. How would it do to have Col. Fort return and tell us how it's done?

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; cooler tonight; warmer Saturday.

THE RED CROSS STAMP.

Janesville has been a little slow to take hold of the Red Cross Stamp movement, but there is still two weeks left before Christmas, and much may yet be accomplished. In another column may be found a list of merchants who have consented to sell them, any others will be supplied on application.

This is a work of love in which no one makes any money. Every penny spent for a stamp goes directly to the Red Cross Society to be spent in a crusade against the White Plague. Buy one or more with your Christmas packages and help the good cause along. The following statement shows what is being done in other cities: Two hundred little unfortunate are going to sell 300 Red Cross stamps, and 100 still more unfortunate persons have already sold 250, setting an excellent example to those people of Wisconsin who have full use of their faculties and their health and happiness to help in the campaign of selling 2,000,000 Red Cross stamps by Jan. 1 to raise funds to fight the great white plague.

These brave crusaders are the entire student body of the Wisconsin school for the Deaf at Delavan, Wis., and the entire colony of patients at the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Wales, Wis., who have jumped into the fight, and they say that if their more fortunate brothers and sisters cannot make the commendable movement a success, they will do their share to make it such.

Mayor Schaubert of Madison says that the capital city ought to sell 1,000,000 stamps. The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association says this cannot be asked, for the capital is already doing a great share of the state's work. La Crosse and Madison are fighting hard for the high record of sales. At Madison the city hall has been made the distributing center, showing what civic pride will accomplish.

The schools of Milwaukee have already sold 5,000 stamps, clubs and commercial organizations are using stamps on all mail, advertising, publications and selling them to their customers or members.

At suburban 500 were sold in an hour, and 3,000 more were asked for at once.

Everybody should "buy a stamp."

The weight of a "Merry Widow" hat caused a woman to collapse on the street of an Indiana town the other day, and a doctor was summoned to remove the hat and restore the victim to consciousness. Skill, as well as muscle, and a good constitution, is necessary to navigate with one of these well developed new creations.

These Sun-is living beyond his means, and no way has yet been discovered to economize, and just how to increase his revenue, is the perplexing question. Tariff uncertainties are reducing import duties in volume, and the temperance wave has carried off a liberal slice of the internal revenue receipts. A bond issue may be necessary to replenish the treasury.

"There are some beings living in the gutter, so low that they envy the sunshine of a dunghill." This is the president's latest, and expresses his opinion of certain editors who have maligning him by accusations concerning the Panama Canal deal. Label suits are likely to follow.

Also Ruef, the notorious San Francisco grafter, has at last been found guilty, after a trial lasting 106 days. This tardy justice means much to the city which was long cursed by labor oppression and dishonest administration, to say nothing of the havoc made by fire and earthquake.

Congress is busy discussing the president's message and an effort will be made to blue pencil a part of it before transcribing in the congressional record. The offensive paragraphs have to do with the secret service aspersions on their dignity.

The 750 business men of Chicago, who greeted J. Pierpont Morgan at a banquet Wednesday night, were a unit in expressing a desire for a rest from agitation. There are others.

The honest self-registering taxicab is now under the ban in Chicago, for the discovery has been made that it works over time very much like gas and water meters.

A Word About Your Christmas Candy

Your candy for Xmas should be "pure" and well made yet at the same time it should be priced reasonable. At Christmas time it has been the practice of large and small manufacturers to put up candies in enormous quantities made of glucose and other cheap material, as well as old stale candy made over and offer it to the public at seemingly low prices.

We make this statement with a full knowledge of its truth and we beg to announce to the public that the candies which we offer for Xmas selling are to be of the same high standard that has characterized our candies in the past. At no time do we deem it advisable to sacrifice the high quality of our candy for the purpose of reducing its cost a few cents per pound and we feel assured that the public would not knowingly accept candies that have been adulterated in order to save a few pennies on the pound.

If You Wish Chocolates

Let us suggest our Bel-monts or Opera Creams in a variety of flavors. We have 20 different kinds of chocolates to select from. Our chocolates are of a higher grade than can be had from the lines of the largest manufacturers in the country. Their representatives acknowledge—and his truth will be readily acknowledged when we explain that a fine chocolate such as we make will not stand up under the hard knocks received in shipping as do the lines of large manufacturers such as—

Johnson's American Morse Lowney's Etc. Etc.

We put our candies up in special boxes to order, and we also sell the box goods of the large manufacturers.

Mixed Candy

Made of pure sugar, in good variety, will be prepared for the holiday trade.

Taffies of all kinds. Cakes and special holiday goods.

We cater specially to churches, lodges, or anyone wanting large lots of candy or nuts.

A NEW THING IN DENTISTRY

These are wonderful times. In dentistry progress is rapid and continuous. For painless work, I have a new agent for use on the gums around the teeth which numbs them for 15 minutes.

It is not Cocaine. Contains no Cocaine or any of its derivatives. It is harmless and remarkably efficient.

I am astounded every time I use it at the delightful results obtained. Just took out 7 teeth for a lady, and heard her out in my office waiting room declaring to a lot of friends sitting there that, "Dr. Richards had not hurt her at all."

Would be glad to have you call and talk with me about what your needs are in the dental line.

You will be under no obligation to have me do your work either now or over.

COLD WEATHER WILL NOT AFFECT SERVICE

Motor Car Will Make the Regular Trips to Deloit in Spite of Cold Weather.

As soon as a new clutch is put on the engine of the motor car used between Jansville and Deloit on the Northwestern Road, it will be put back and continue to make the trips during the winter. At present an engine and coach are doing its work, but when repairs are made it will probably be sent back to Jansville. On the Illinois Central railroad, there is a similar car used for service between Monroe and Freeport. The car has not been sufficiently heated and patrons of the road have petitioned the Railroad Commission for better service. No stove or any other means of reheating the cold have been used and the people suffer from the chilliness. The car which is used here has never been chilly enough to cause complaint and is always kept warm during service hours. The heat for keeping it warm is furnished by running the water heated by being used to cool the cylinder through pipes in the coach and back into the cylinder again. This furnishes enough heat to keep the car warm provided that it does not become chilled during the night. After the final trip has been made in the evening, car heaters are put in to keep the temperature of the car the same. When the old roundhouse was torn down this fall one of the stalls was left standing and was utilized in this the motor car will be stored when not in use, during the rest of the winter.

Christmas Shopping

People seem to have commenced buying earlier than usual this year. It is a wise thing to do. Saves so much rushing the last two or three days. It is in line with the movement in Chicago (for the sake of the salespeople) to encourage early shopping, as at best it is a long, hard pull for clerks the two weeks before Christmas. Townpeople can help the early Christmas buying very much by trading in the morning and can surely get better attention then.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

A Great Play. Among the many new plays offered by the Whinniger Bros. Own Company this season, is "The Avenger" written by Hal Reid, Author of "Abraham" and other equally successful plays. This is considered Mr. Reid's best effort, and it is positively the first time in repertoire and at these prices. As yet this play has been played only in the larger cities, and only by paying a heavy royalty was Mr. Whinniger able to secure this play for presentation this season. Frank Whinniger appears as Izzy Mendelbaum, a Jew peddler, a decided departure from his usual German role, but those qualified to judge, pronounce him even better in this role than in others he has played. The story deals with life in the Kentucky hills, which has for all time proven a romantic country. A pretty love story, mingled with pathos and typical southern humor, all blended into one harmonious whole. The comedy scenes between Izzy and Rustus must be seen to be appreciated. Vanville numbers between the acts. Prices 10c, 20c and 30c. The Whinniger Bros. will open for 6 nights and 2 matinees at the Myers theatre next Monday evening, Dec. 14.

REPUTABLE BOOKING AGENCY IMPOSED UPON MANAGER MYERS

Would Not Have Permitted the Performance of "Miss Manhattan" On His Stage Had He Known Its Character.

Manager Peter L. Myers of the Myers theatre thinks that some information, wholly unjust to him, have been drawn in connection with the "Miss Manhattan" performance which appeared upon the local stage Wednesday evening. He looked the attraction with the Admittance Theatres Co. of Chicago, a supposed reputable agency, and was convinced that the performance was meritorious by the fact that it was to be presented at Peoria, Bloomington, Rockford, and a number of other important cities on its circuit. He has written a sharp letter to the management, enclosing comments of the local press, and advising them never again to attempt to place such an entertainment before the local footlights.

TAFT FEELS CERTAIN OF "HONEST REVISION"

Result of Conferences with Cannon and Representatives—Intimates Senate Must Yield.

Washington, Dec. 11.—William H. Taft, the president-elect, said Thursday night that it was his belief that the house of representatives would make an "honest and thorough revision of the tariff" at the extra session which he is to call for that purpose upon his inauguration as president.

This belief he bases on a conference he had Wednesday with Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, and with a session Thursday with the Republican members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

Mr. Taft said he had not as yet consulted with members of the senate on the subject. When the suggestion was made that the senate would undoubtedly have something to do with the tariff bill after the house had passed it, he replied, with no uncertainty in his demeanor, that there was also some one else who would have something to do with the bill, which, interpreted through the medium of previous utterances, indicates clearly that Mr. Taft is determined, even to the exercise of the veto power, to carry out the pledges of the party.

Mr. Taft said that Mr. Cannon had said he was in favor of an honest and thorough revision of the tariff in accordance with the party promises. The question of the speakership of the next congress, Mr. Taft said, was not discussed, but many other matters of legislation were, of which he preferred not to give details at this time. He added that he had been somewhat misled regarding his interpretation of the attitude of the speaker by the press reports of Mr. Cannon's speech in November before the Cleveland chamber of commerce.

FORTY YEARS AGO

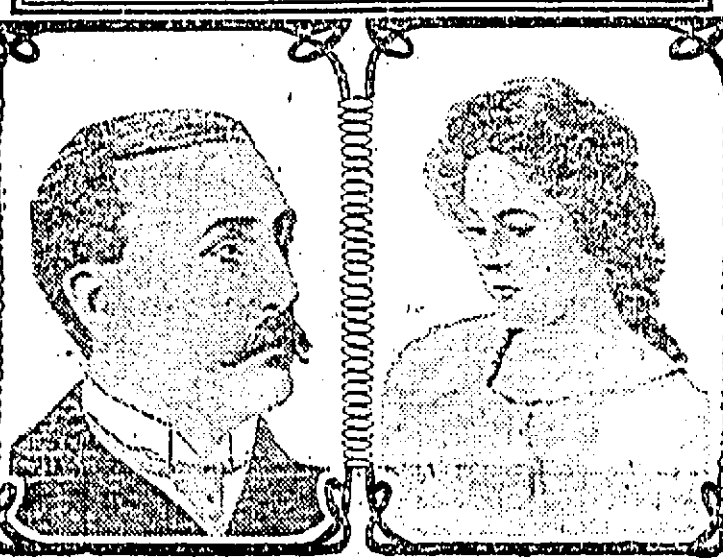

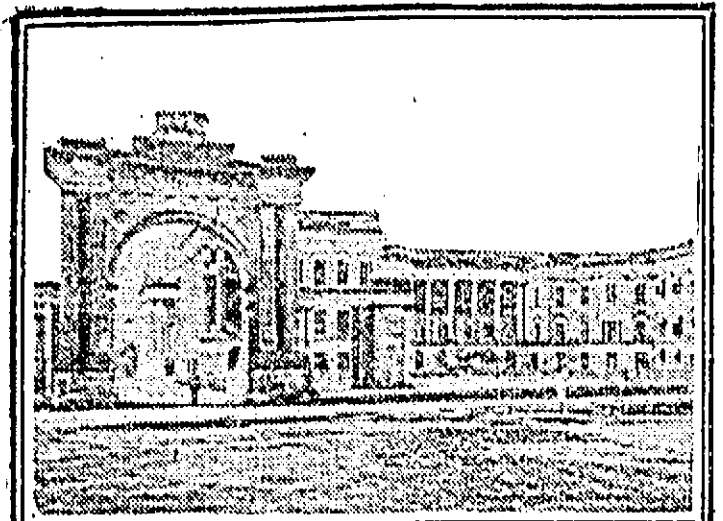

Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 11, 1868.—Broke Down.—The weather last night, and up to this morning, at midnight the thermometer indicated 0 degrees below zero. It was really a more uncomfortable night than the previous one. The backbone of the cold snap, however, seems to be broken.

President's Message in Europe.—London, Dec. 11.—The Daily News says of President Johnson's message, that his persistent opposition to the will of the people of our nation, is the cause of the partial failure of his message. It considers that there is no hope for the restoration of peace and unity in America, until the election of Grant as President.

Johnson's Message in Congress.—Following is an interesting account of how the President's message was received in Congress. The Senate received it from the President's secretary at one o'clock and the clerk began the reading of it as the printed copies were distributed among the Senators. The Clerk had proceeded but a short way with his reading when a discussion was opened by several of the members about some of the passages. Some declared it to be indecent and others, that, others wished the reading stopped because it was considered to contain malicious falsehoods, and beyond the right of the President to send such a message. A motion to adjourn was made and was carried without division. Thus the Senate, outraged beyond restraint, refused for the first time, to hear a message from the White House. The House took the message very quietly. Clerk Macpherson did the reading, but very few of the members paid any attention to him. When the reading was ended a few of them arose and denounced it and put a lively discussion came up about it. It was finally thrown on the table and was referred for general publication. This action of the two houses of Congress is the theme of conversation in all circles tonight.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT CALCUTTA, THE EARL OF MINTO, VICE-ROY OF INDIA, AND HIS DAUGHTER, LADY VIOLET ELLIOT.

The situation in India has not shown such a menace of serious uprisings for many years past as it does today. Attacks and attempts on the lives of Englishmen, officials and civilians, are of almost daily occurrence. Lord Minto, the viceroy of India, returned here today from the north, cutting short his expedition in this territory for the purpose of considering measures to cope with the native discontent which officials have been forced to recognize as alarmingly on the increase.

It is noteworthy, too, that the police are taking remarkable precautions to safeguard Lord Minto and family, and this is regarded as a most significant sign of the ominous condition of affairs.

One of the results of the present menacing outlook will probably be the interruption of a love romance in the Minto family. Lady Violet Elliot, the youngest daughter of the viceroy, has just reached here to prepare for her wedding to Lord Charles Fitzmaurice. It is by King Edward's express command that India was selected as the scene of the wedding, it being his majesty's wish that the marriage should be a gorgeous state affair to rival the great Durbar in magnificence.

All the great princesses of India were to be present and the magnificence of the ceremonial, it was calculated, would serve to defeat the rebellious feeling of the people. But it is doubtful whether the wedding will take place until India is more peaceful than at present.

The headquarters of British power in India are in an immense building located in the European quarter of Calcutta. The main entrance faces the north. At the eastern entrance to the terrace is a great archway.

THE "WALKING PRELATE."

Stories of Bishop Coleman's experiences on his tramping tours.

Bishop Leighton Coleman of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Delaware, who died recently, was known as the "walking bishop" by reason of the long tramps which he made each year in his vacation clad in rough clothes, flannel shirt and slouch hat, carrying a knapsack and armed with a heavy walking stick. On these tramps he has crossed the Blue Ridge mountains several times and has explored the valleys of the Hudson, the Connecticut, the Delaware and indeed all the rivers of the east, sleeping under whatever cover chance furnished, often under none at all.

Usually he went alone, but on one occasion several gentlemen accompanied him. The party toured the White mountains, says the Detroit News-Tribune. On an August afternoon they stopped, very warm and thirsty, at a farmhouse and bought several quarts of milk. Even now, though, they were unsatisfied, and the farmer's wife fetched from the springhouse no less than three gallons of milk in a pail. Setting this before them, she said:

"One would think, gentlemen, that you had never been weaned."

Two clergymen took possession of the "amen corner" at the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York during the absence of the politicians at Albany and fell to relating anecdotes of the cloth, says the New York Mail.

"Bishop Coleman of Delaware had some odd experiences in the course of his outings," said one. "You know, every summer he donned old clothes and tramped through the mountains of West Virginia."

"One day in the summer, covered with dust and appearing like a veritable tramp, the bishop entered an inn where several mountaineers were drawn up at the bar."

"Come, join us," called out one of the men hospitably.

"No, thank you," said the bishop courteously. "The fact is I do not drink."

"Do you eat hay?" retorted the West Virginian, nettled at the bishop's refusal.

"No," was the bland reply.

"Then I say," drawled the mountaineer, looking at the others to see the effect of his witicism—"then I say that you're not fit company for man or beast."

On his walking tours the bishop carried little money and always kept his identity a secret, so that he could mingle the more readily with all sorts of people. And few men have had a greater knack for making friends. Farmers, tramps, peddlers, children—with all these he mixed, and all gave him their confidence. He used to tell with delight of his adventures on these trips—how he was pitted for his poverty; how he once read "Gulliver's Travels" to a farmer's family, none of whom could read; how he slept in barns among the hay or in deserted schoolhouses or how by mending clocks he earned a lodging for the night in some mountaineer's cabin.

POWER BY WIRELESS.

Day State Youth Runs Motors Nine Hundred Feet Away.

Harry M. Grant, nineteen years old, of Spencer, Mass., has succeeded in operating electric lights and motors by electric magnetic waves at a distance of 900 feet and over, says a Worcester (Mass.) dispatch to the New York Tribune. According to authorities at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, this is something that had never been accomplished before—that is, power has been sent through the air for a few feet, but nothing to approach the distances at which Grant has successfully operated his light and motors by wireless. He believes that in a short time he will be able to transmit power regularly and in a practical manner by wireless.

Grant has been studying wireless telegraphy for five years, electricity being his hobby. He is a student at the David H. Prouty High school. He is now planning the establishment of two wireless stations three miles apart for the transmission of power.

Shooting From Automobiles.

Shooting from an automobile is likely to become popular as a result of the success attending an experiment by Mrs. J. Prentice Kellogg and Mrs. O. H. Gruner in Lakewood, N. J. Both women the other day shot pheasants from the turrets of a big car, while their husbands tramped about, says the New York Press. Of course where over the timber stands close the automobile is out of the question, but in woods of the open nature of those surrounding Lakewood an expert chauffeur finds little difficulty in steering even the largest machines. Mrs. Kellogg and Mrs. Gruner alike were enthusiastic over the automobile as a shooting platform, and another advantage was found in the car offering easy transport to the game killed. Mrs. Kellogg is almost an expert a shot as her husband. She handles a beautifully chased sixteen gauge gun, while Mrs. Gruner shoulders a heavier twelve gauge.

Have You Eaten Electrocutted Frogs?

The latest in table delicacies is electrocuted frogs. Emil R. Nosenfoht, who supplies the Milwaukee and Chicago markets, has installed an apparatus at his frog farm in Oshkosh, Wis., for electrocutting frogs, says the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. He has a large stone jar, which is filled with salt water, and an electric current of 110 volts is passed through it. He keeps thousands of frogs ready for market.

Art in the Kitchen.

Domestic and marital peace and harmony depend on the kitchen and the dining-room table much more than some dreamy idealists are willing to admit. Technical schools and hospitals are fostering more and more attention to dietetics, and in a few years housekeeping will be revolutionized as the result of the growth of this science and art.

Poultry in India.

Poultry is of very poor quality in India. One American egg is considered equal to three of those laid by the hens in Hindustan and chicken only a few weeks old are generally almost too tough to be eaten. A few turkeys are raised by Europeans in the foothills of the Himalayas. At Christmas time they sell in Calcutta for from $5 to $10 apiece.

"Quit Yourself Like Men."

Oh, do not pray for easy lives. Pray to be strong men! Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your tasks! Then the doing of your work will be no miracle. Every day you shall wonder at your self, at the richness of life which has come in you by the grace of God.—The Late Phillips Brooks.

Clock Made of Straw.

A shoemaker named Wegner, living in Strassburg, has a clock of the grand, futher shape, nearly six feet high, made entirely of straw. The wheels, pointers, case and every detail are exclusively of straw. Wegner has taken 15 years to construct this strange piece of mechanism. It keeps perfect time.

Justness of Judgment.

No alone reads history aright who, observing how powerfully circumstances influence the feelings and opinions of men, how often views pass into virtues and paradoxes into axioms, learns to distinguish what is accidental and transitory in human nature, from what is essential and immutable.—Macaulay's Essay on Macchiavelli.

Instantaneous Relief for Croup.

Croup can be cured in one minute, and the remedy is simply alum and sugar. The way to accomplish the deed is to take a knife or grater and shave off in small particles about a teaspoonful of alum; then mix with twice the amount of sugar to make it palatable, and administer it as soon as possible.

HIS SON SAM.

"During the harvest time," said the old farmer who had brought a load of potatoes to market, "I hired on three extra men, and one of them turned out to be a boxer. He and my son Sam took to each other, and Sam bought a pair of boxing gloves and took about 20 lessons in what they call 'the art.' When harvest was over and he had got through his job, he could lick anything that traveled our highway. I didn't say nothing either way, but just waited. When a young fellow of 20 gets a clip on his shoulder somebody's party come to come along and knock it off this day a tin peddler drove up, and I saw Sam stepping high and splitting over his shoulder. Maybe he got up a row with the fellow and knocked him out in one round. For two weeks after that it was brag from mouth 'till night. He got sassy to me and the neighbors, and one could see what he was aiming for. We was digger. 'Till one day, when the some peddler's wagon drove up, and Sam turns to me and says:

"Dad, that peddler has come back after more. Come along and see me put him to sleep."

"And that he doesn't exert himself much for fear of a hemorrhage of the lungs. Sam was mighty disappointed and was going back to the 'tubance' when the stranger said something about his low legs. 'Fifty wash they was pawsed' but words, and I was tryin' to quiet 'em, when the stranger got up and called Sam a liar and jumped down from his wagon. Sam went for him and squared off and led with the left, and the next thing I saw was his heels in the air. He scrambled up and went down again, and the third time he went right to sleep and held there. Then the stranger laughed and climbed on his wagon and drove away. It took me'n the old woman 20 minutes to revive Sam, and we found him a changed young man. He read 40 chapters in the Bible in the last 20 nights, and has committed 12 hymns to memory, and when I ask him how he feels he rolls his eyes and answers:

"I'm a-feeble. Dad, that I'm not long for this wicked world, and I'm a-hoping that you and Ma'ma will so live that you kin find me in that better land."

The Queen of Roumania Today and as She Appeared in Childhood.

Photograph, Underwood & Underwood, New York.

A little princess like this one is, of course, expected to learn modern languages and to have beautiful manners, but nobody asks her to show great talents. All the same, now that she is the grown-up queen of Roumania, she is an author of high standing. People read what she writes not merely because she wrote it, but because it is worth reading.

In addition to her talents nature has endowed the queen of Roumania with beauty and she is known as one of the most beautiful queens in the world.

She is universally loved by her subjects on account of her many acts of philanthropy, among which are her efforts in behalf of the blind.

WAS GORED BY BULL;
WILL PROBABLY DIE

Nicholas Moser Probably Fatally Injured on Farm of Christ Tochterman.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Dec. 11.—Nicholas Moser was probably fatally gored by a bull on the farm of Christ Tochterman, five miles west of Monroe, Thursday morning and he now lies in a precarious condition in the local hospital. The bull's horn entered the man's left side, cutting the skin for four inches and then penetrating into the muscles of the body.
Had the horn gone half an inch further into Moser's body it would have penetrated the abdominal wall which would undoubtedly have resulted in death. Mr. Moser was reaching for the ring in the bull's nose when the animal charged at him, breaking down a wire gate which was between them. The bull charged the man on his horn and rammed him against a fence. After the first charge the bull retreated a few feet when Moser jumped over a fence and escaped to the house.

The gasoline motor car service is practically discontinued by an expert employed by the Wisconsin Railroad commission who investigated the car on Tuesday on a complaint filed with the commission by the Monroe Evening Times. The car runs between Madison and Freeport and the temperature in it has been so low during the cold snap that passengers are in danger of contracting severe colds or pneumonia. Prof. John G. D. Mack, who made a trip in the car Tuesday, says in conclusion in his report:
"The observations noted above, and even with the aid of the heater, I regard the temperature in the car as intolerable. I was thoroughly chilled on reaching Freeport, although wearing an overcoat throughout the trip.

must possess their second citizenship filed with the clerk of the circuit court thirty days before the date of hearing. Judge George Gilman will grant hearings to the present applicants on March 22, 1909, and in order to have their cases come up at that time applicants must file before Dec. 22.

LIVELY DISCUSSION
AT 6 O'CLOCK CLUB

Talked of Desirability of a Commission Form of City Government at Their Meeting Last Night.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Dec. 11.—The Six O'clock club held a meeting Wednesday night, the evening being spent in a lively discussion of the pros and cons of a commission form of government. The question has been discussed but very little in the city before last night when several of the prominent men of the city gave addresses favoring its adoption. Others did not speak very highly of it but the majority believed that the system could be used in Beloit with great success. The prominent speakers of the evening were Professor R. B. Way, professor of political science at the college; President Patton, of Beloit college; ex-Mayor Charles Gault; Father M. J. Ward of St. Thomas Catholic church; Rev. Joseph J. Car-don, City Attorney; H. H. Adams, and Dr. Harry C. Worthington.
The topic has been much discussed in the city today. It is a live topic here and there will probably be more meetings along this line.

HOLIDAY BAZAAR
WAS BIG SUCCESS

Iduna Lyceum of Milton Held Function at Goodrich Hall on Tuesday Evening.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton, December 10.—The Holiday Bazaar held by the Iduna Lyceum in Goodrich hall, Tuesday evening, was a great success. There were many attractions to catch the nimble eye. As the posters advertised there were seven great shows and each was worth the price of admission. In the Iduna room there were a number of booths, where calendars, banners, pennants and other college goods were sold, besides a goodly number of fancy articles and an interesting display of home made candy and other Iduna-made goods.

One feature, which proved very popular, was a room where one could sit for a picture and have it made while you waited.
Avery Fairy Lillian, weighing 267-8-10 pounds with the little snake charmer, who not only charmed snakes, but also the auditors were some of the sights worth seeing—as was the human dwarf, who was over eight feet tall and had travelled over eight continents. Shouting the shutes down into the basement, and then shaking the hand of old Nore the skeleton and seeing the ghost were other attractions. That evening was sewed in one room and a typical gypsy camp where fortunes were told and a stand presided over by two pretty girls where they sold pink lemonade and pop corn, were well patronized. The proceeds amounted to about eighty dollars. All are well pleased with the results.

MUCH PRAISE GIVEN A FORMER RESIDENT

Chester Brewer, Coach at Michigan Agriculture College, Coached An Unbeaten Team This Fall.
The Lansing, Michigan, Journal has the following to say of a former Janesville resident:
"For six years Chester L. Brewer has been a leader and director of athletics at M. A. C. and in that length of time has turned out more championship teams than any other state school coach in the state. Himself a champion all around athlete, and a promoter of a high class and clean sportsmanship, he has instilled the same ideas into the minds of the men, and wherever the name of the Michigan Agricultural college is mentioned in connection with athletic events, opposing teams have always praised the treatment accorded them by students and players, and at the same time have a wholesome respect for the prowess of the local athletes."
"This year he has coached an unbeaten team which has contested for gridiron honors with some of the strongest eleven in the west. His growing effort was the victory over the strong D. A. C. team at Detroit yesterday, and competent critics who witnessed the game, claim that the same eleven could defeat Yost's badly mangled searing machine to a frazzle. Coach Brewer is a master of the new gridiron game in every detail.
The leader of the Farmer champions was born at Orosco, Mich., but received his education and graduated from the high school at Janesville, Wis., where he was a leader in all kinds of athletics. In 1892 he entered the University of Wisconsin where he graduated in 1897. As a member of the Badger eleven and basketball team, he was one of the best and immediately after leaving college he was offered a position as coach of the Whitewater State Normal school where he remained two years.

"In 1898 he became coach at Albion college and his successes attracted the attention of the local school and at a greatly increased salary he took charge of affairs at M. A. C. in 1903.
He is without doubt the most popular and one of the most successful coaches in the state and although many other colleagues have made bids for his services he likes the Agricultural school, and any intimation that he was about to leave, would bring a great outcry from the students of that institution.

COMMISSION ASKS
FORESTRY RESERVE

Official Report to Governor and Also to the Wisconsin Forestry Commission.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 11.—That increasing the state forestry reserve by the purchase of additional lands in northern Wisconsin will be a pressing demand before the state legislature this winter, was indicated by the report of State Forester E. M. Griffith to the Wisconsin Forestry commission. Simultaneously, a like report was filed with Gov. Davidson, for his guidance in making legislative recommendations.
The order properly to foster the manufacturing interests of the state through the protection of its water with an adequate forest cover, and by maintaining a timber supply, it is important that large additions be made to the present forest reserves, and that they be made immediately, so as to avoid the heavy increase in expenditure that would be caused by delay," writes the forester. "The lands most suitable for forestry purposes are now largely in the hands of speculators, and are rapidly developing timber fires and neglect.
They can be purchased at the present time at a much greater advantage than when the prices have increased and large tracts broken up among small purchasers.

Benefit to State.
"So large an income will revert to the state from adequate forest reserves, aside from the indirect benefit to users of water power, and those employed in various woodworking industries, that a plan has been favorably considered for asking the legislature to authorize the sale of land conveyed to the state for forestry purposes on the state forest reserve lands for a period, perhaps, 25 years, bearing a reasonable rate of interest; that a reasonable tax be levied upon the owners of all water power protected by the forest reserve the proceeds to be used only for paying off the principal and interest of such a loan. Careful investigation by the attorney general has shown that such a law would not be unconstitutional, and the plan seems to be entirely feasible. If, however, it does not meet with favor, an annual state tax could be levied, amounting to one-tenth of a mill, to accomplish the same results."

The forest reserves now comprise some 300,000 acres in seventeen counties, being worth from $2,500,000. The report declares the state must soon begin to establish nurseries to grow its own seedlings, to reforest, burned and barren areas. "It is expected that the cost of this work will be paid from the forest reserve fund. Reforestation is made to the recent disastrous fires in northern Wisconsin, which burned over 1,200,000 acres, causing a loss of approximately $9,000,000.

Free in Summer.
Mr. Griffith recommends that all slash be piled and burned immediately after cutting, or at least within a year; that timber lands should bear an annual tax of 2 to 2 1/2 cents per acre, to maintain a fund to support a complete fire patrol; that the fire warden law be amended so that no fires shall be set from April 1 to Nov.
1, excepting for warming the person or cooking food, without the written or printed permission of the local fire warden. He also recommends that timber on these wild and uncultivated lands, largely within the forest reserves, be not taxed, although the land on which it stands should be subject to an equitable annual tax."

"Such a law has been considered by several of the lake states," he continues, "and by certain of the Canadian provinces, and it is believed that if it is carefully drawn it would give a wonderful impetus to the adoption of forestry methods in the management of timber lands."

Need More Money.
The forester says the work of the board of forestry has grown so rapidly that the annual appropriation of $3,000 is small in comparison with the needs of the state, and that it has been impossible to take up several important lines of work. He recommends that an appropriation of $35,000 annually be passed by the legislature. The state now holds under patent from the United States about 16,375 acres of timber land, within the Munominee reservation.
He recommends that these lands be managed by forestry methods in cooperation with the United States forestry service, and that a law be passed making them part of the state forestry reserves.

HOW DETROIT LOOKS AT THE NEW DISEASE

The Foot and Mouth Epidemic Among Cattle Alarm in Michigan.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
In a letter from Detroit, Michigan a Gazette correspondent writes of the foot and mouth disease as follows:
"Wayne county, in which Detroit is located, has recently been the scene of much activity on the part of health officials of the department of agriculture. They were called here to identify and stamp out a disease that had attacked nearly two hundred cows that were until recently contributing their share to this city's milk supply. This disease is known as hoof-and-mouth fever or hoof and mouth disease."

State Forester Wilson of the United States department of agriculture arrived in Detroit on November 21, and after conferring with the experts of his department and the state officials declared a quarantine upon Michigan cattle that should be effective throughout the state, including the upper peninsula. The order totally prohibited the movement of cattle into or out of the state.

This drastic measure came about through the discovery of about 100 cases of the hoof and mouth disease at Elm, a small station on the road Marquette about sixteen miles out of Detroit. Later nearly 100 more cases were found in the immediate vicinity, but so far the disease has apparently not spread a foothold elsewhere in this state. When the disease was discovered in Pennsylvania about four weeks ago, it was traced to the influence of stock yards. The presumption is that it came to Michigan from Illinois, but so far there is no tangible evidence to substantiate this suspicion.
The government's experts say that no one can safely predict when the disease can be suppressed because of its indefinite character. The last outbreak in the United States occurred six years ago, when it appeared in Rhode Island. Many cattle were killed and within six months all traces of it had been eradicated. Wayne county has the most cases it has ever had in the past. The cattle ranches of the west, Dr. Wright, state veterinarian of Illinois, who has acted with the government officials, says that if it gets into the Chicago stock yards the loss may run into several millions before it can be suppressed. Wisconsin dairymen and stock breeders may suffer in this event, owing to their close proximity and to the ease with which the germs may be carried in the clothing of visiting gentlemen.

The task of wiping out the hoof and mouth disease is one that involves considerable labor and expense to the state and national government. The cattle show considerable evidence of the disease, and are killed by inspectors and buried in trenches ten feet deep upon the farms where the cases are discovered. The stock is quarantined by appraisers appointed jointly by the state and federal authorities. The government pays the farmers two-thirds and the state one-third of the unrecovered value of the stock. The expense of burying and disinfecting is borne in the same proportion. Every stable yard and pasture where the infected cattle have been kept must be thoroughly treated with an antiseptic solution or fumigated. The stock yards of Detroit have already undergone thorough cleaning and fumigating at the hands of the government inspectors. Even the dogs used in herding the cattle were given a bath in an antiseptic solution.

In a late issue of the Gazette there appeared a well-written article upon the symptoms and treatment of the hoof and mouth disease. It is by far the best thing I have seen relating to the subject. Detroit newspapers, with customary regard for the advertising patronage of several big milk-dealers, did not publish a word concerning the existence of the plague until a few days before government intervention occurred. It is not probable that any considerable quantity of this infected milk was furnished to Detroit consumers. In a diseased animal the secretion of milk is almost entirely stopped. No case of the disease among the human beings have thus far been reported by the health authorities.

As an example of the laxity of our laws in safeguarding this vastly important source of our food supply, the outbreak is entirely characteristic.
We give critical inspection to the labels on our food bottles and canned goods, which we use occasionally and sparingly. To our milk supply we accord notice only upon those occasions when it is found that a certain herd of cows has for weeks or months been supplying a community with infected milk. If something in the nature of a pure food law could be applied to the production of our supply of milk it is probable that the death rate from tuberculosis and other infectious diseases would be considerably lessened. Every milk-cow producer for a general market should be subject to a regular and thorough inspection at the hands of state or government authorities. The expense might be considerable, but should be regarded in the light of an

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.
A few months ago the dispensers of pomade, the new discovery for the cure of eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it.
Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.
Since this change in the method of distribution, pomade has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 50 years. All leading druggists, including Helmsmeier's, The Smith Drug Co., and the People's Drug Co., in Janesville are now carrying the special 50-cent size recently adopted, also the $2 jar.
This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, pomade stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application.
Experimental samples of pomade are annual premium paid upon insurance of the public health. The cost to the government and the State of Michigan, involved in stamping out the present plague, will probably come close to $100,000. And when the slaughter of cattle, spraying and fumigating is over, none of the officials are prepared to say that another outbreak may not occur within a few months. This huge sum of money, expended to attain an uncertain end, might more profitably and wisely be expended in a proper system of prevention.

Wisconsin dairymen, as a class, are to my mind, much better informed upon their business than their Michigan neighbors. This state has neglected the dairying industry. The agricultural school at Lansing is just beginning to exert an influence proportionate to its excellence of equipment. Even without Michigan's recent experience to guide them, it is doubtful if the hoof and mouth disease could attain serious proportions in Wisconsin. The stock raiser and dairymen quarter their cattle in more healthful surroundings, their knowledge of cattle disease is greater and their interest in the good of the industry such that the first symptoms would be promptly reported and the disease checked before it attained the seriousness of an epidemic.

HE SPOUTS ABOUT SKILLETS TO KITCHEN CABINET CRONIES

Uncle Sam's Big Skillet Could Hold the U. S. Navy, a 15,000-Ton Steak, $7,500,000 Ham and Eggs.

STATISTICAL SAM got the adjective handle to his name in this way. He belonged to the little coterie of men who called themselves "The Organization Committee of the Fifth Precinct of the Twenty-Sixth Ward," and who were called by their political opponents the "kitchen cabinet"—their weekly meeting being held in the kitchens of the members.

The fall campaign was over, and some of the members thought the wise thing would be to adjourn till spring; but Sam was differently inclined. You see, he'd been the official figure of the kitchen cabinet and had made a marvelously good forecast on the fall vote. Wherefore he was a man of some consequence in the cabinet, and of more consequence to himself. When the motion to adjourn, subject to call of the president (which would come with the first political whisper of spring) was made, Sam spoke against it as follows:

"Well, men, I for one have kind of got into the habit of enjoying these meetings. Why not continue them? We don't have to deal with politics; we can discuss other subjects to a good advantage. Defeat the motion, and I will explain."

The motion was defeated, and this is the explanation he gave and which caused him thereafter to be called Statistical Sam:

"I've been doing considerable figuring of late and I've kind of got into the habit of it. Now that there is no more politics to figure, I find my attention being drawn into other lines of speculative and statistical thought. Even the homely kitchen articles become of interest when viewed from certain standpoints. The common skillet, statistically viewed, may be made to present a wonderful combination of comparisons.

"For purpose of establishing a measuring unit, or standard skillet, let us say the skillet is one foot in diameter, weighs one pound, and, including handle length, is eighteen inches long. It is a mild estimate today that each family in the United States possesses a big skillet and a little skillet. There are more than 15,000,000 families in this country, and more than 30,000,000 skillets. Without worrying you by asking you to go through all the figures, I will tell you the following facts:

"If all the skillets of the United States were placed side by side they would reach more than 6,000 miles; if placed handle-wise, 9,000 miles.

"If all the skillets were made into one big skillet, Uncle Sam would have to be over six miles high to handle it and cook in it. It would hold one big pancake with an area of more than a square mile or 75,000,000 ordinary sized cakes like you get at a restaurant.

"If Uncle Sam were frying beefsteak in his big skillet, the steak would weigh in the neighborhood of fifteen thousand tons and the steer from which it would be taken would sport a tail over two-and-a-half miles long, and could easily stop over New York City at its widest point without touching anything. Thirty thousand ordinary steers could be placed in it at one time. The metal in it converted into a frame one inch wide could surround a mirror wherein Mother Earth might view her full face.

"In this skillet Uncle Sam could place the 272 service ships of the United States Navy, and, at a pinch, might be able to accommodate his grand total of 326.

"Allowing ten coal wagons to a block and each carrying one ton, it would take a procession 100 miles long to provide the fuel for the cooking of one meal. A full order of ham and eggs would cost $7,500,000.

MISS FREDRICA MORGAN.

Washington, D. C.—Among the most noted social leaders and charming beauties of the younger Washington social set is Miss Fredrica Morgan.

modern ideas of luxurious living. It is as old as the time of President Jackson, who found space lacking for the reception of his visitors. Today the chambers assigned for public use are fairly adequate to their purpose, but the private quarters of the president's family are most uncomfortably cramped. For guests there is no room whatever. When the present English sovereign visited Washington in 1860 only he and two members of his suite could be accommodated in the executive mansion, the rest of his retainers being sent perforce to the British legation. If he were to repeat his visit he could not be invited to the White house unless some of its inmates moved out. It may suit republican simplicity, but it does not at all accord with diplomatic propriety, and a great country should leave its chief magistrate destitute of provision for the entertainment of visiting royalty.

The late Mrs. Harrison attempted to remedy the matter by urging the addition of wings on either side of the present building—not as she said for her own occupancy, but "for the comfort and convenience of her successors and for the provision of a home which might be creditable to the executive of the greatest nation of the globe." It was her idea to restore the whole of the existing mansion to the use of the president's household, making one of the proposed wings an art gallery and historical museum, and devoting the other to public functions and the transactions of official business. The plan was reduced to a definite and feasible design and every criticism upon was favorable; but, as so often happens with propositions that all approve, nothing has been done to carry it out.

BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER, WHO MAY SUCCEED PRESIDENT ANGELL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—There is a constantly recurring rumor that President Angell of the University of Michigan wishes to retire on account of his advancing years. With his desire of seeing the university well established in his successor's hands, he is still active in university affairs. A possible candidate as his successor is Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, whose long-term contract with the California university expires on January 1, 1909. Mr. Wheeler is a Yankee, just past the half-century mark in life. He is a graduate of Brown university and took his Ph. D. degree in Heidelberg university. He has received honorary degrees from Princeton, Harvard, Brown, Yale, John Hopkins, Wisconsin and Illinois universities. He is well known in educational circles and has written several books, most of them of a technical educational nature.

As president of the University of California Mr. Wheeler has been a great success, and should he be selected to succeed President Angell a continued prosperity of the University of Michigan will be assured.

The Law of Speculation.

Big men are given to taking profits, while smaller men are laying a basis for profits that may or may not be shown. The law of the fishes in the sea applies in speculation. The big and the little fish have their respective missions, and the small ones are safe when the large ones are not hungry.

HON. SAMUEL JAMES ELDER, A POSSIBLE ATTORNEY GENERAL IN MR. TAFT'S CABINET.

Boston, Mass.—Friends of Samuel J. Elder, the well known Boston attorney, are actively who pulling these 22 years. During this time he has days in Mr. Elder's behalf. The friends represent a strong political factor in the east. Mr. Elder himself is a personal friend of President-elect Taft and is well known through his legal ability. He was graduated from Yale in 1873, a year before Mr. Taft entered. Two years later he was admitted to the bar in Massachusetts.

Should Mr. Elder be selected as attorney general over Frank Kellogg, it would greatly please the east, which is very desirous of securing an eastern man to succeed Bonaparte.

CAROLINE LAVINA (SCOTT) HARRISON, WIFE OF PRESIDENT HARRISON AND MISTRESS OF THE WHITE HOUSE FROM 1889-1892.

When President Harrison was elevated to the presidential chair, he brought with him to the White house a charming wife who entered upon her social duties with a zest and with a far-sighted policy to better the conditions of the White house. Mrs. Harrison's reign was unfortunately cut short by her death and this cast a shadow over the balance of the social festivities. Mrs. McKee, the president's daughter, took up the duties of the administration and was very popular in Washington circles. One of the trials of life in the White house is the exceeding scantiness of its accommodations. This is no new complaint, engendered by

RUEF IS CONVICTED

San Francisco's Ex-Boss Found Guilty of Bribery.

MAY GET 14 YEARS IN PRISON

He Hears the Verdict Calmly and Considers His Aged Father—Francis J.
Heney, Ex of Boudlers, Is Present in Court.San Francisco, Dec. 11.—Guilty of bribery was the verdict of the jury Thursday in the case of San Francisco's former political boss, Abraham Ruef. The jury had been out 21 hours and brought in its verdict at four o'clock in the afternoon. The trial lasted 106 days.The warnings of Judge William P.
Lawlor and the vigilance of the police checked all attempted demonstration, although the excitement in the courtroom was so intense that men were thrust down into their seats or held in the grasp of detectives as they rejoice to obtain a better view of the proceedings.Impressive Scene in Court.
As the jury filed into the courtroom and took their seats in the jury box, Judge Lawlor asked Foreman Mc-Namara:"Have you gentlemen reached a verdict?""We have," replied the foreman as he handed a folded slip of paper to Clerk Welch. An impressive silence followed. Attorneys, defendant, spectators, detectives and police held their breath as the clerk slowly and deliberately, yet with apparent agitation, unfolded the paper and then, as every eye in the courtroom was riveted upon him, read the words: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Abraham Ruef, guilty as charged."Immediately all arose to their feet.
There was a murmur of approval, but no demonstration.At the other end of the counsel table, near the place where his blood had dried the floor a deep crimson red which had been effaced with sandpaper, sat Francis J. Heney, who appeared in the courtroom for the first time since the day he was shot.

Ruef Thinks of His Father.

Ruef sat between his father and Thomas D. Dozier of the defense when the verdict was returned. He had spent the greater part of the day in conversation with his aged parent and though his face paled and his eyes remained fixed for a long time upon the men who had pronounced his fate, almost his first thought was for the elder Mr. Ruef. He whispered a few words of encouragement to the old man and sent him out of the room to break the news to the defendant's mother and sisters.By previous agreement of counsel that the bill of exceptions should be settled later, the court set Saturday, December 12, as the day for pronouncing judgment. Ruef's conviction renders him liable to a maximum penalty of 14 years in the penitentiary.

TO REBUKE PRESIDENTHis Words Concerning Secret Service Offend Lawmakers—Resolution Ready for House.Washington, Dec. 11.—Senators and representatives who resent the part of President Roosevelt's message concerning the secret service are planning carefully to rebuke the chief executive. Many small conferences on the matter were held Thursday, one of them being attended by Senators Aldrich and Hale and Speaker Cannon. It was held in the speaker's office.It was practically decided that a resolution should be introduced in the house providing for the appointment of a select committee to consider the recommendations made for a restoration of the law regarding the secret service and also to take account of the expressions in the message which were offensive to members of congress. A resolution already has been prepared and is in the custody of Mr.
Perkins of New York who, according to the present understanding, will introduce it in the house.As originally drafted the resolution contained a preamble which recited the language used by the president and declared it to be an unnecessary condemnation of the course taken by members of congress in confining the activities of the secret service, to the detection of counterfeiting and to the protection of the president of the United States. At several of the conferences, however, it was thought best to make the resolution as general as possible. It is thought likely, therefore, that when the resolution is presented the preamble will have been eliminated. It is understood that the committee to be appointed, if the resolution is adopted, will consist of members of the highest standing and that Mr. Perkins will be the chairman.Indications point to non-action by the senate on the message until after the house special committee has had the opportunity to investigate the entire matter.

PRISONER SAVED FROM MOB.

Lynching of Alleged Assassin of Girl Prevented by Sheriff.Willow River, Minn., Dec. 11.— Prompt action on the part of the authorities in hurrying him out of town saved J. P. Garroty from the hands of a mob that waited in front of the jail with a rope, as the prisoner, charged with assaulting two five-year-old girls, Minnie Boeckel and Elizabeth Sherrick, was brought to town. Garroty is a homesteader and claims to have a wife and 12 children.
It is said he was fully identified by the girls, and confessed to the crime, claiming he was drunk. The sheriff took him to Pine City for safe-keeping.

cases of Col. Daniel Cornman and Capt. Charles G. French of the Sev-recently tried by court-martial for alleged violations of the regulations regarding the issue of forage. The sentence imposed by the court in Col.

Cornman's case was suspension for one month and a reprimand, which the president approved. In the case of Capt. French the sentence was dismissal, but this was modified to a reduction of 50 flos in his rank, which sentence was approved by the president.

TO PUNISH "LIARS"

Canal Graft Stories May Result in Prosecution.

PRESIDENT MAKES THREAT

Says He Will "Reach" Authors by Criminal Libel Suits If Possible—Cromwell Asserts the Charges Are Unqualifiedly False.Washington, Dec. 11.—President Roosevelt is going after the authors of the canal "graft" charges. He declared Thursday that if they could be reached for criminal libel, he would try to have them reached and punished for their "infamous falsehoods."It was to the committee of one hundred of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway, association, headed by Gov.
Deneen of Illinois, who were received by the president in the east room of the White House, that he made this declaration.

What the President Said.

Gov. Deneen had presented a copy of the resolutions adopted by the association and made a few remarks, to which the president replied as follows:"I have felt, as the governor has so well put it, that no more important service could be rendered to this country than the building of the Panama canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific, and one thing I am proud of in connection with the building of that canal is that there has not been legiti-mate cause for the breath of scandal connected with any feature of the proceeding. We have cause to be ashamed of only one set of Americans in connection with the building of the canal, and that is of those Americans who have been guilty of infamous falsehood concerning the acquisition of the property and the construction of the canal itself. If they can be reached for criminal libel, I shall try to have them reached. If not, at any rate all the facts we know or ever have known are at the disposal of each and every one of you here, and of anyone in congress or of all congress, if they wish to see them."

Statement by Mr. Cromwell.

New York, Dec. 11.—William Nelson Cromwell issued a statement Thursday night concerning the Panama canal charges, in which he strongly backs up President Roosevelt in his refutation of accusations of graft in the deal.
Mr. Cromwell continues:"I again denounce the statement, wherever published or by whomsoever made, that there was a syndicate formed by American citizens to purchase the Panama canal and to sell it to the United States, as absolutely and unqualifiedly false and untrue.
The Americanization plan was an entirely different matter. It was a project proposed by the company to the rivers and harbors committee of the house and to President McKinley on February 27, 1899, and was formally authorized by the board of directors October 10, 1899, subject to the necessary approval of stockholders.

Americanization Plan Dropped.

"The initial steps were taken by me in October, November and December, 1899, and a company formed for the purpose under the laws of New Jersey for carrying out the instructions of my client. While the certificate of incorporation of the Panama Canal Company of America was filed in New Jersey no capital stock except the nominal capital of $5,000 set forth in the certificate of incorporation was ever issued and nothing further was ever done by that company, as the records in the office of the secretary of state of New Jersey will show. The project adopted by the board of directors failed of approval by the stockholders in December, 1899; the board of directors in consequence resigned in a body, and the plan then and there forever ended.

No Mystery About Payment.

"Now with regard to the distribution of the $40,000,000, it has been made to appear in newspaper comments that there was some mystery connected with the disposition of this money.
There is no mystery and never has been."To the senate committee I stated that I did not know what distribution of the fund had been made and that I was in no way concerned or interested therein. That statement by me was true. I had no pecuniary interest in the canal and it was none of my business, personally or professionally, who were the stockholders or bondholders of the company."Mr. Cromwell adds that "no member of the Taft family or Mr. Douglas Robinson ever had the remotest connection with Panama canal matters, directly or indirectly, and I never saw one of them on this subject before the United States acquired the canal. I never saw Mr. Douglas Robinson in my life."

New York, Dec. 11.—Ten persons

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

Successfully Tried by Many

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "overworked" men vitality, manliness and the functions.

First get fifty cents' worth of compound fluid heliowort in a one ounce package, and three ounces' syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadmate, (not cardamon). Mix all in a six or eight ounce bottle, shake well, and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poison and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

"That's lucky," thought he, "I'll tune up later. Take a nibble, now. We've got to hustle our breakfast and find a way to get over the river."

"How wide is it?" inquired Winthrop, gazing at his swollen hands.

"About 300 yards at high tide. May be narrower at ebb."

"Could you not build a raft?" suggested Miss Leslie.

Blake smiled at her simplicity. "Why not a boat? We've got a plank here."

"Well, then, I can swim."

"Butly for you! Guess, though, we'll try something else. The river is chuck full of alligators. What you waiting for, Pat? We haven't got all day to fool around here."

Winthrop twisted the cropper about his leg and slid to the ground, doing all he could to favor his hands. He found that he could walk without pain, and at once stepped over beside Blake's club, glancing nervously around at the jungle.

Blake jerked up the end of the cropper, and passed the loop about Miss Leslie. Before she had time to become frightened he swung her over and lowered her to the ground lightly, as a feather. He followed, hand under hand, and stood for a moment beside her, staring at the dew-dripping foliage of the jungle. Then the remains of the night's quarry caught his eye, and he walked over to examine them.

"Say, Pat," he called, "these don't look like deer bones. I'd say—yes; there's the feet—it's a pig."

"Any tusk?" demanded Winthrop.

Miss Leslie looked away. A heap of bones, however cleanly gnawed, is not a pleasant sight. The skull of the animal seemed to be missing; but Blake stumbled upon it in a tuft of grass and kicked it out upon the open ground. Every shred of hide and gristle had been gnawed from it by the jackals; yet if there had been any doubt as to the creature's identity there was evidence to spare in the savage tusks which projected from the jaws.

"Jerusalem!" observed Blake; "this old bear must have been something of a scrapper his own self."

"In India they have been known to kill a tiger. Can you knock out the tusk?"

"What for?"

"Well, you said we had nothing for arrow points."

"Good boy! We'll clinch them and ask questions later."

A few blows with the club loosened the tusks. Blake handed them over to Winthrop, together with the whiskey flask, and led the way to the half-broken patch through the thicket. A free use of his club made the path, a little more worthy of the name, and as there was less need of haste than on the previous evening, Winthrop and Miss Leslie came through with only a few fresh scratches. Once on open ground again, they soon gained the fallen palms.

At a word from Blake, Miss Leslie hastened to fetch nuts for Winthrop to husk and open. Blake, who had plucked three leaves from a fan palm near the edge of the jungle, began to split long shreds from one of the huge leaves of a coconut palm. This gave him a quantity of coarse, stiff fiber, part of which he twisted in a cord and used to tie the one of the leaves of the fan palm over her head.

"How's that for a bonnet?" he demanded.

The improvised head-gear bore so grotesque a resemblance to a recent type of picture hat that Winthrop could not repress a derisive laugh. Miss Leslie, however, examined the hat and gave her opinion without a sign of amusement. "I think it is splendid, Mr. Blake. If we must go out in the sun again, it is just the thing to protect one."

"Yes. Here's two more I've fixed for you. Ready yet, Winthrop?"

The Englishman nodded, and the three sat down to their third feast of coconuts. They were hungry enough at the start, and Blake added no little keenness even to his own appetite by a grim joke on the slender prospects of the next meal, to the effect that if in the meantime not eaten themselves they might possibly find their next meal within a week.

"But if we must move, could we not take some of the nuts with us?" suggested Winthrop.

Blake pondered over this as he ate, and when fully satisfied he helped himself up with his club he motioned the others to remain seated.

"There are your hats and the strings," he said, "but you won't need them now. I'm going to take a prospect along the river, and while I'm gone, you can make a try at stringing nuts on some of this leaf fiber."

"But, Mr. Blake, do you think it's quite safe?" asked Miss Leslie, and she glanced from him to the jungle.

"Safe?" he repeated. "Well, nothing ate you yesterday, if that's anything to go by. It's all I know about it."

He did not wait for further protests. Swinging his club on his shoulder he started for the break in the jungle which marked the hippopotamus path. The others looked at each other, and Miss Leslie sighed. "If only he were a gentleman!" she complained.

Winthrop turned abruptly to the coconuts.

CHAPTER VII.

Around the Headland.

It was mid morning before Blake reappeared. He came from the mangrove swamp where it ran down into the sea. His trousers were smeared to the thigh with slimy mud; but as he approached the drooping brim of his palm-leaf hat failed to hide his exultant expression.

"Come on!" he called. "I've struck it. We'll be over in half an hour."

"How's that?" asked Winthrop.

"Bar," answered Blake, hurrying forward. "Slings on your hats and get into my coat again, Miss Jenny. The sun's hot as yesterday. How about the nuts?"

"Here they are. Three strings; all that I fancied we could carry," explained Winthrop.

"All right. The big one is mine, I suppose. I'll take two. We'll leave the other. Lean on me if your ankle is still weak."

"Thanks; I can make it alone. But must we go through mud like that?"

"Not on this side, at least. Come on! We don't want to miss the ebb."

Blake's impatience discouraged further inquiries. He had turned as he spoke, and the others followed him, walking close together. The pace was sharp for Winthrop, and his ankle soon began to twinge. He was compelled to accept Miss Leslie's invitation to take her arm. With her help he managed to keep within a few yards of Blake.

Instead of plunging into the mangrove wood, which here was undergrown with a thicket of giant ferns, Blake skirted around in the open until they came to the seashore. The tide was at its lowest, and he waved his club towards a long sand pit which curved out around the seaward edge of the mangroves. Whether this was part of the river's bar or had been heaped up by the cyclone would have been beyond Winthrop's knowledge had the question occurred to him. It was enough for him that the sand was smooth and hard as a race track.

Presently the party came to the end of the spit, where the river water rippled over the sand with the last feeble out-suck of the ebb. On their right they had a sweeping view of the river, around the flank of the mangrove screen. Blake halted at the edge of the water and half turned.

"Close up, he said. "It's shallow enough; but do you see those logs over on the mud-bank? Those are alligators."

"Mercy—and you expect me to wade among such creatures?" cried Miss Leslie.

"I went almost across an hour ago and they didn't bother me any. Come on! There's a wind in that cloud out seaward. Inside half an hour the surf'll be rolling up on this bar like all Niagara."

"If we must, we must, Miss Concoct," urged Winthrop. "Stop behind me and gather up your skirts. It's best to keep one's clothes dry in the tropics."

The girl blushed, and retained his arm.

"I prefer to help you," she replied.

"Come on!" called Blake, and he splashed out into the water.

The others followed within arm's length, nervously conscious of the rows of motionless reptiles on the mud-flat, not 100 yards distant.

In the center of the bar, where the water was a trifling over knee-deep, some large creature came darting downstream beneath the surface and passed with a violent swirl between Blake and his companions. At Miss Leslie's scream, Blake whirled about and jabbed with his club at the supposed alligator.

"Where's the brute? Has he got you?" he shouted.

"No, no; he went by!" gasped Winthrop.

"There he is!"

To be continued.

CZAR FERDINAND DECKED IN THE GORGEOUS NEW TRAPPINGS HE AFFECTS IN COURT.

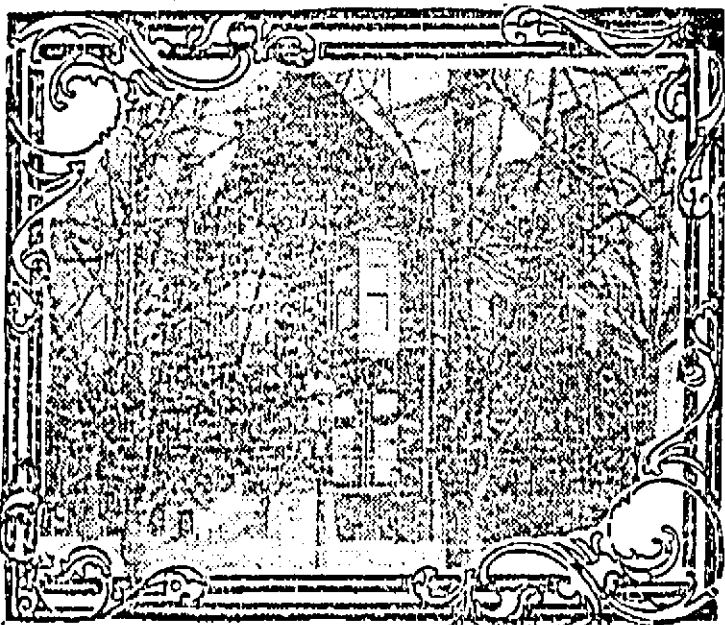

BULGARIA AGAIN ASKS AID OF RUSSIA.

Bucharest, Bulgaria.—The Bulgarian government has for the second time asked Russia to petition the powers of Europe to interfere against Turkey's claim for monetary damages as a result of the declaration of Bulgarian independence.

Bulgaria's new czar, Ferdinand, while still affirming his peaceful intentions, has declared to Russia that he will disband no more of his troops until he is assured that Turkey will surrender to his country her own sovereignty without force of arms or execution of tribute.

Russia has so far failed to reply to the demand from Ferdinand, and the situation in the Balkans is again becoming tense as a result.

Meanwhile Ferdinand is drilling his troops daily, and there is a sentiment throughout the country that war is preferable to a tax that would have to be levied in exorbitant amounts in order to pay the Turkish tribute.

A BAPTIST ELDER

Restored to Health by Vinol

"I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well." Henry Cunningham, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.

Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cod's livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. In this natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis Vinol is unexcelled.

All such persons in this vicinity are asked to try Vinol on our offer to refund their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

Life Isn't Worth Living

This Statement May be Generally Attributed to the Lack of Good Health.

We want to talk to people who are nervous, who don't enjoy their food, who are irritable, quickly lose their temper, are so tired and worn out that they feel they must give up, and have become so despondent that life doesn't seem worth living. We know exactly what is the matter with people in this condition, and if they will follow our advice, we can tell them how to regain good health and that buoyancy of feeling which makes life seem all sunshine and happiness.

Most of the above described conditions are chiefly caused by catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes. This delicate web-like lining of the body becomes inflamed and congested until weakness and mental depression follows. The only way that this can be overcome is through a treatment of the blood. We have the treatment, and we are so positive that it will produce the results we claim for it that we will supply it to anyone with the understanding that we will return to them every penny they paid us in every instance where the treatment is not in every way satisfactory and beneficial to them.

We want you to try Rexall Muc-Tone, which is a powerful nutritive tonic and body builder, and a mucous membrane alterative that cleanses these membranes and restores their natural and healthy functions.

Rexall Muc-Tone drives out all the catarrhal poison, restores the mucous cells to good health, tones up the whole system, always inflammation, removes congestion, and stimulates the whole system to healthy activity. It is splendid for building up flesh and muscle tissue and removing all weaknesses.

Come to our store today and get a bottle of Muc-Tone, and after giving it a reasonable trial, if you are not satisfied simply tell us so, and we will hand back your money without question. Surely, nothing could be more fair than this. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. The Smith Drug Co.

Sound "Taps" on Mayor.

A "striking" ceremony marks the expiration of the Grantham (England) mayor's tenure of office. The robot is stripped from him, the chain is taken from about his neck, and with a small wooden hammer the town clerk taps the ex-mayor on the head in token of the demise of his authority.

Rev. Frank K. Sanders, New President of Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas. The trustees of Washington college are fortunate in securing so advanced and remarkable an educator as Rev. Frank K. Sanders. Mr. Sanders has had wide experience, is broadly educated and is a thoroughly progressive college president. He has made a considerable mark for himself in the literary world, especially along biblical lines.

Dr. Sanders was born in Battledora, Ia., 47 years ago. He was graduated from Ripon college, Wisconsin, and later took a post graduate course in semitic languages and biblical literature at Yale. A Fortune.
There is a fortune in it for the man or woman who can invent a woman's hat that can be worn so that every time she tries it on she won't have to say: "Of course it doesn't look well just now. My hair isn't dressed the way it should be for this hat."

Caspian Sea Puzzles Scientists.
No one can tell what is happening in the Caspian sea. For years past its waters have been falling, and it has been supposed that the great inland sea was gradually drying up. Recent soundings revealed the astonishing fact that the Caspian is at present actually deeper than it was a century ago. There is only one possible hypothesis. The bottom of the sea must be dropping out.

To Take Off a Tight Ring.
When a ring has become too tight for the finger, as it often happens among growing children, instead of using the old method of filing, take a piece of common twine, insert one end under ring towards the hand, the other end wind closely around the finger until over the joint. Now proceed to wind with the end back of the ring, and if done correctly the tightest ring will come off easily.

Some Men.
Men are unappreciative of efforts of their wives to look beautiful. During the recent absence of an Atchison man his wife put up her hair in curl papers every night, and washed her gray hairs in a new kind of tea soap—have discovered. She supposed that when her husband returned home he would remark her improved appearance. But he didn't! And his wife is still puzzling.—Atchison Globe.

The Great Circus.
The Coliseum, massive as it was, was a mere toy in comparison with the Great Circus, which filled the valley between the Painted and Aventine hills. The Coliseum is said to have been able to seat 80,000 people; while the seating capacity of the Great Circus was, at different periods, 150,000, 250,000, and lastly 350,000 spectators. The Great Circus was probably the most stupendous building ever erected for public spectacles.
